skilfully planned and resourced and follows the yearly pattern of the Gospels so that pupils are able to deepen their understanding and build on previous experiences.

- Leaders design opportunities for parents and other adults associated with St Mark's to be involved in the prayer life of the school. The recent commissioning of the Prayer Room is an excellent example of this. However, leaders are aware that more needs to be done to engage parents who are traditionally harder to reach and they see this as a key development for the future provision of Collective Worship at St Mark's.
- All adults at St Mark's, including highly skilled teaching support staff, are passionate about high quality worship and take every opportunity to model acts of worship for pupils. Themes for worship are chosen sensitively, often reflecting the school's commitment to improving the mental health of pupils and their understanding of their part in God's creation. Staff are skilled in helping pupils to develop an awareness of contemporary issues and discuss them in relation to the Gospel.

How well leaders and managers promote, monitor and evaluate the provision for Collective Worship is outstanding.

- The headteacher sets the highest of standards when leading Collective Worship. Her inspirational leadership helps pupils and staff develop a deeper appreciation of the Church's traditions, seasons, rites and symbols.
- The headteacher's and Religious Education coordinator's passionate promotion of Collective Worship ensures that liturgical and spiritual development are priorities in school and that an appropriate amount of time is devoted to them.
- The Religious Education coordinator is an experienced leader. She is a model of outstanding practice for both staff and pupils; she works closely with the headteacher, colleagues across school and in the wider diocesan family to provide the very best opportunities for Collective Worship.
- Senior leaders across school are involved in the formal and informal monitoring and evaluation of Collective Worship. As a result of this collegiate approach, senior leaders have a clear understanding of the strengths and areas for development in Collective Worship.
- Staff who are new to a year group or recent additions to the team at St Mark's receive excellent support and guidance from leaders. The quality of professional development on offer at St Mark's is a real strength of the school
- The governors actively seek to promote Collective Worship. They are a visible presence at many acts of Collective Worship and as a consequence they are able to speak with great authority about the significance of purposeful Collective Worship and its importance in sustaining a prayerful community. Governors are very clear about the strengths and areas for development in Collective Worship.
- Leaders including governors strive for continuous improvement towards excellence. They regularly seek the views of pupils, staff and parents regarding the quality of Collective Worship in school and are quick to respond to these findings in a systematic and thorough way.
